Pilipino
Cultural Exchange

Pilipino Cultural Exchange is a student cultural organization at Cal Poly SLO that prides itself on providing a home to anyone who seeks it. For over four decades now, the club has brought together a diverse, full spectrum of personalities, that celebrates Filipino culture while promoting cultural exchange. All students with different kinds of backgrounds are always welcome.

PCE strives to provide unique personal, social, cultural, and academic resources that benefit every student that crosses their way. Members are assisted in academia through the mentor-mentee program, as well as participate in the kuya/ate/ading program (the big/little program) where many life-long friendships, memories, and traditions are forged and remembered.

With three non-audition performing groups, members are provided with numerous platforms that foster personal growth and self-expression. The Modern dance group is known for its hip hop, contemporary, and pop-influenced style and dance. The choir, Ating Himig offers individuals the opportunity to show off their singing abilities. Lastly, the cultural dance troupe, Kasayahan, allows members to take part in learning the traditional folk dances of the Philippines.

PCE also hosts numerous social, sporting and recreational events, and holds regular cultural and political dialogues to create a safe space for all members. Along with various community outreach efforts, and the annual play production called Pilipino Cultural Night, the organization strives to share their cultural pride and instill an inclusive environment for members, fellow student body and the wider community.
